

1721

Dir. Gen

Inquiry at JOYC.

I spoke with Peter Coyne this morning. He said that he and Anne Dutney had been thinking and were now prepared to leave the Dir. Gen to make her decision with regard to the inquiry.

This means that although they intend to commence their District Court action for access to the documents, they will drop their Supreme Court action for a writ of prohibition until the rules of natural justice are complied with.

They were expecting their solicitor Mr Ian Berry (281 9800) to phone Trevor Walsh with this advice.

On the basis of a phone conversation yesterday they have asked to meet with me to discuss the reestablishment of stability at JOYC.

Ian Berry

24/1/90

(121)

78

Dir. Gen

Inquiry at JOYC.

I spoke with Peter Coyne this morning. He said that he and Anne Dutney had been thinking and were now prepared to leave the Dir. Gen to make her decision with regard to the inquiry.

This means that although they intend to continue their District Court action for access to the documents, they will drop their Supreme Court action for a writ of prohibition until the rules of natural justice are complied with.

They were expecting their solicitor Mr Ian Berry (2819800) to phone Trevor Walsh with this advice.

On the basis of a phone conversation yesterday they have asked to meet with me to discuss the reestablishment of stability at JOYC.

Ian Berry

24/1/90

171

Dir. Gen

Inquiry at JOYC.

I spoke with Peter Coyne this morning. He said that he and Anne Dutney had been thinking and were now prepared to leave the Dir. Gen to make her decision with regard to the inquiry.

This means that although they intend to continue their District Court action for access to the documents, they will drop their Supreme Court action for a writ of prohibition until the rules of natural justice are complied with.

They were expecting their solicitor Mr Ian Berry (281 9800) to phone Trevor Walsh with this advice.

On the basis of a phone conversation yesterday they have asked to meet with me to discuss the reestablishment of stability at JOYC.

Ian Berry
24/1/90

